Hill Statement

With 150,000 tons of food being wasted everyday in America, our goal is to decrease that number and help people save money. Anyone equipped with a smartphone can utilize RecipeAI to snap photos of their household groceries to get recipe ideas. This will aid in reducing the amount of food wasted and also help users save money.

Persona

- Joselyn, a hard working nurse, just got home from a long shift at the hospital and didn't have time to get groceries. She has some ingredients and doesn't know what to make. She opens up the app, accesses the camera, takes a picture of ingredients and has a recipe to make food in about a minute and a half.

- Andrew, a college student, lives on a tight budget. In order to optimize his money spent on food, he downloads RecipeAI to get creative ideas for what to cook with the ingredients he has at his apartment.
